

Copyrighted

"HE BOUGHT EVERYTHING SHE WANTED"

WORDS AND
BY MUSIC

J. H. WOODMAN.

5

PUBLISHED BY
J. H. WOODMAN
KANSAS CITY, U. S. A.

"HE BOUGHT EVERYTHING SHE WANTED"

Words & Music by J. H. WOODMAN.

Allegro.

Voice - Moderato.

1. Oh I met a gay young wid-ow, who knew a thing or two, and
 2. I bought ro-ses by the doz-en, and bon-bons by the ton, bought
 3. Oh but now I am much wis-er, and know a thing or two, but so for fun I thought I'd take her in, But I'll hand-ker-chiefs and gloves and bric-a-brac, And my what it cost to learn it I'll not tell, As to make a full con-fes-sion as I feel I ought to do, and I'll lov-er-like de-vo-tion seemed to cause her lots of fun, but for flirt-ing with young wid-ows I as-sure you I am thro', and my tell you how she worked me for my tin, She me she did - n't seem to care a whack. And les - son of a week I've learned it well. She placed her hand in mine and leaned her head up - on my breast, and then I went in steep - er in - to my pock - et deep'r, and told me that her hus - band "a bur - ly trav' - ling man, would seemed in me so ful - ly to con - fide, That I sought to beat his rec - ord if I could. I bought come in on the train at half past six", And you'd felt a pal - pi - ta - tion un - der - neath my silk - en vest, as she dia - monds, pearls and ru - bies and I bought her noth - ing cheap'r, and I bet - ter leave this ci - ty in a hur - ry if you can, for he's

He bought etc. 3.

cud - died close and nest - led at my side.
 felt that noth - ing for her was too good,
 an - gry and I think your clock he'll fix.

Refrain.

Oh I thought she was an an - gel, and now I wish she was, for she made me feel ri - dic - u - lous - ly thin, "He bought ev - rything she wanted," did her late la - ment - ed "hus," so to beat his rec - ord $\frac{2}{1}$ went mad - ly in.

 $\frac{3}{1}$ was tak - en in.

Allegro.

D.S. ff
rit.

He bought etc. 3.

